Background and methodology of the research

---

Background of the research

The healthcare payer market is undergoing a rapid transformation. With ObamaCare taking effect and boosting enrollments, several new payers find themselves overwhelmed while handling the surge in the volumes. Also, as a result of the Affordable Care Act and the increase in the size of the aging population, a greater number of high-risk individuals are now able to enroll for health plans. This leads to more claims in terms of both number and value.

In such a scenario, BPO has a much more important role to play in the industry than before. Service providers can help payers streamline their claims operations and reduce operational costs. They can provide services which help buyers bring out new plans in the market on a more frequent basis with minimal overheads. Providers can also help run data analytics that can impact the bottomline by targeting low-risk individuals as well as reducing cases of fraud, waste, and abuse.
