Overview and abbreviated summary of key messages

The global healthcare payer BPO market grew at a healthy pace during 2012-2015, reaching ~US$5.5 billion in 2015. Stringent regulatory compliances, increase in healthcare spending globally, and shift in industry characteristics (such as focus on value-based care) are some of the key factors driving growth in the market.

Over the last three years, healthcare payer market witnessed increased volume of work as well as rise in average ACV. Claims processing continues to be the most outsourced and offshored process within the value chain. Technology-led solutions are gaining traction in healthcare BPO, with platform solutions being the most preferred by the buyers. Also, evolved pricing models such as transaction- or outcome-based pricing are gaining dominance.

With increasing adoption, impact of technology, and evolving pricing models, healthcare payer BPO is expected to evolve rapidly in terms of scale, scope, and cost efficiency.

Some of the findings in this report, among others, are:

State of the market

- The healthcare payer BPO market continued to grow at a healthy CAGR of 15% during 2012-2015
  - Increasing adoption of outsourcing services due to an ever-changing regulatory landscape was the key growth driver
- North America dominated the market, accounting for over 90% of the global healthcare payer BPO outsourcing spend
  - Adoption across other geographies, though prospective, is still very small at the global scale
- Contract renewal activity witnessed increased traction vis-à-vis new contract signings during 2014-2015 owing to buyer's having a wait and watch approach awaiting expected political changes in the country
- Small buyers (revenue <US$5 billion) drove adoption of BPO services during 2014-2015
- In 2016, market expected to register a growth rate of 12-14%

Overview and abbreviated summary of key messages

Drivers and challenges

- Increasing stringency of regulatory landscape and needs for compliance creating pressure on the profitability of healthcare payers, driving adoption of BPO services
- Large healthcare spending and increasing private play in countries such as Germany, France, the UK, Japan, China, Brazil and Australia also driving traction in the global healthcare payer BPO market
- Focus on value-based care creating challenges for both providers and payers, creating demand for BPO services

Healthcare payer BPO solution characteristics

- Average ACV of active contracts continue to increase, growing by ~12% during 2012-2015
- Claims processing continues to be the most outsourced and offshored process within healthcare payer BPO value chain, accounting for the bulk of FTEs deployed
- Output- and outcome-based pricing models commonly deployed in the BPO contracts
  - Evolved pricing models such as transaction- or outcome-based pricing are expected to be dominant in the future

Service provider landscape

- Healthcare payer BPO market is consolidated at top with the top three service providers accounting for ~60% of the market share by revenue
- Accenture is the only service provider to feature in the top three across each process outsourced in healthcare payer BPO
- With expanding capabilities of service providers, the service provider landscape is expected to become more competitive
  - Robotic Process Automation (RPA) expected to play an impactful role in the future
