(Annual contractual and operational RFIs, service provider briefings, buyer interviews, and web-based surveys)

3 Diverse set of market touchpoints
(Ongoing interactions across key stakeholders, inputs from a mix of perspectives and interests, supports both data analysis and thought leadership)

4 Fact-based research
(Data-driven analysis with expert perspectives, trend analysis across market adoption, contracting, and service providers)

- Year-round tracking of 20+ analytics BPS service providers
- Large repository of existing research in analytics BPS
- Dedicated team for analytics BPS research, spread over two continents
- Vast experience in advising clients on analytics BPS-related decisions
- Executive-level relationships with buyers, service providers, technology providers, and industry associations

Background and methodology of the research

Background of the research

While analytics is being recognized as the key pillar of the digital revolution, it has managed to retain its value as a stand-alone package. Though the growth has slowed over the last few years on the back of rising maturity, analytics BPS continues to be the shining beacon in the BPS industry and managed to clock double-digit growth again in 2017. The market continues to see demand for analytics being integrated into the larger BPO deals, as clients look for end-to-end solutions through analytics rather than siloed solutions.

North America enjoys the lion's share of the market and most of the analytic BPS providers are focused on this geography. Accenture, Genpact, IBM, and TCS continue to dominate the global analytics BPS market in terms of market share and are major players across most of the geographies.

With shifting client demands, service providers are now looking to integrate analytics as a single offering across their IT and BPS operations, and the synergy between the two arms is helping these providers deliver more valuable solutions to the clients. Productized solutions are also gaining more prominence in the market due to their cost and quicker deployment. With technologies such as IoT paving way for the next wave of data disruption, clients and service providers need to ensure that they have the right capabilities to collect, clean, and handle this data while drawing meaningful insights through it.

Scope and methodology

In this research, we analyze the global analytics BPS service provider landscape. We focus on:

- Relative positioning of 20 service providers on Everest Group's PEAK Matrix for analytics BPS
- Service provider market success
- Service provider capability assessment across key dimensions
- Comments about service providers

This report is based on three key sources of proprietary information

1

- Proprietary database of 15+ analytics BPS service providers (updated annually)
- The database tracks the following elements for each service provider:
  - Revenue and number of FTEs
  - Number of clients
  - FTE split by different Lines of Business (LoBs) and processes
  - Revenue split by region
  - Location and size of delivery centers
  - Technology solutions developed

2

- Service provider briefings
  - Vision and strategy
  - Annual performance and future outlook
  - Key strengths and improvement areas
  - Emerging areas of investment

3

- Ongoing buyer surveys and interactions
  - Drivers and challenges for adopting analytics BPS
  - Emerging priorities
  - Lessons learnt and best practices
  - Detailed assessment of service provider performance across different elements, such as:
    - ◆ Performance against key analytics BPS metrics
    - ◆ Performance across various analytics BPS processes
    - ◆ Performance during the implementation and transition phases
    - ◆ Governance and relationship management

List of service providers covered in the analysis

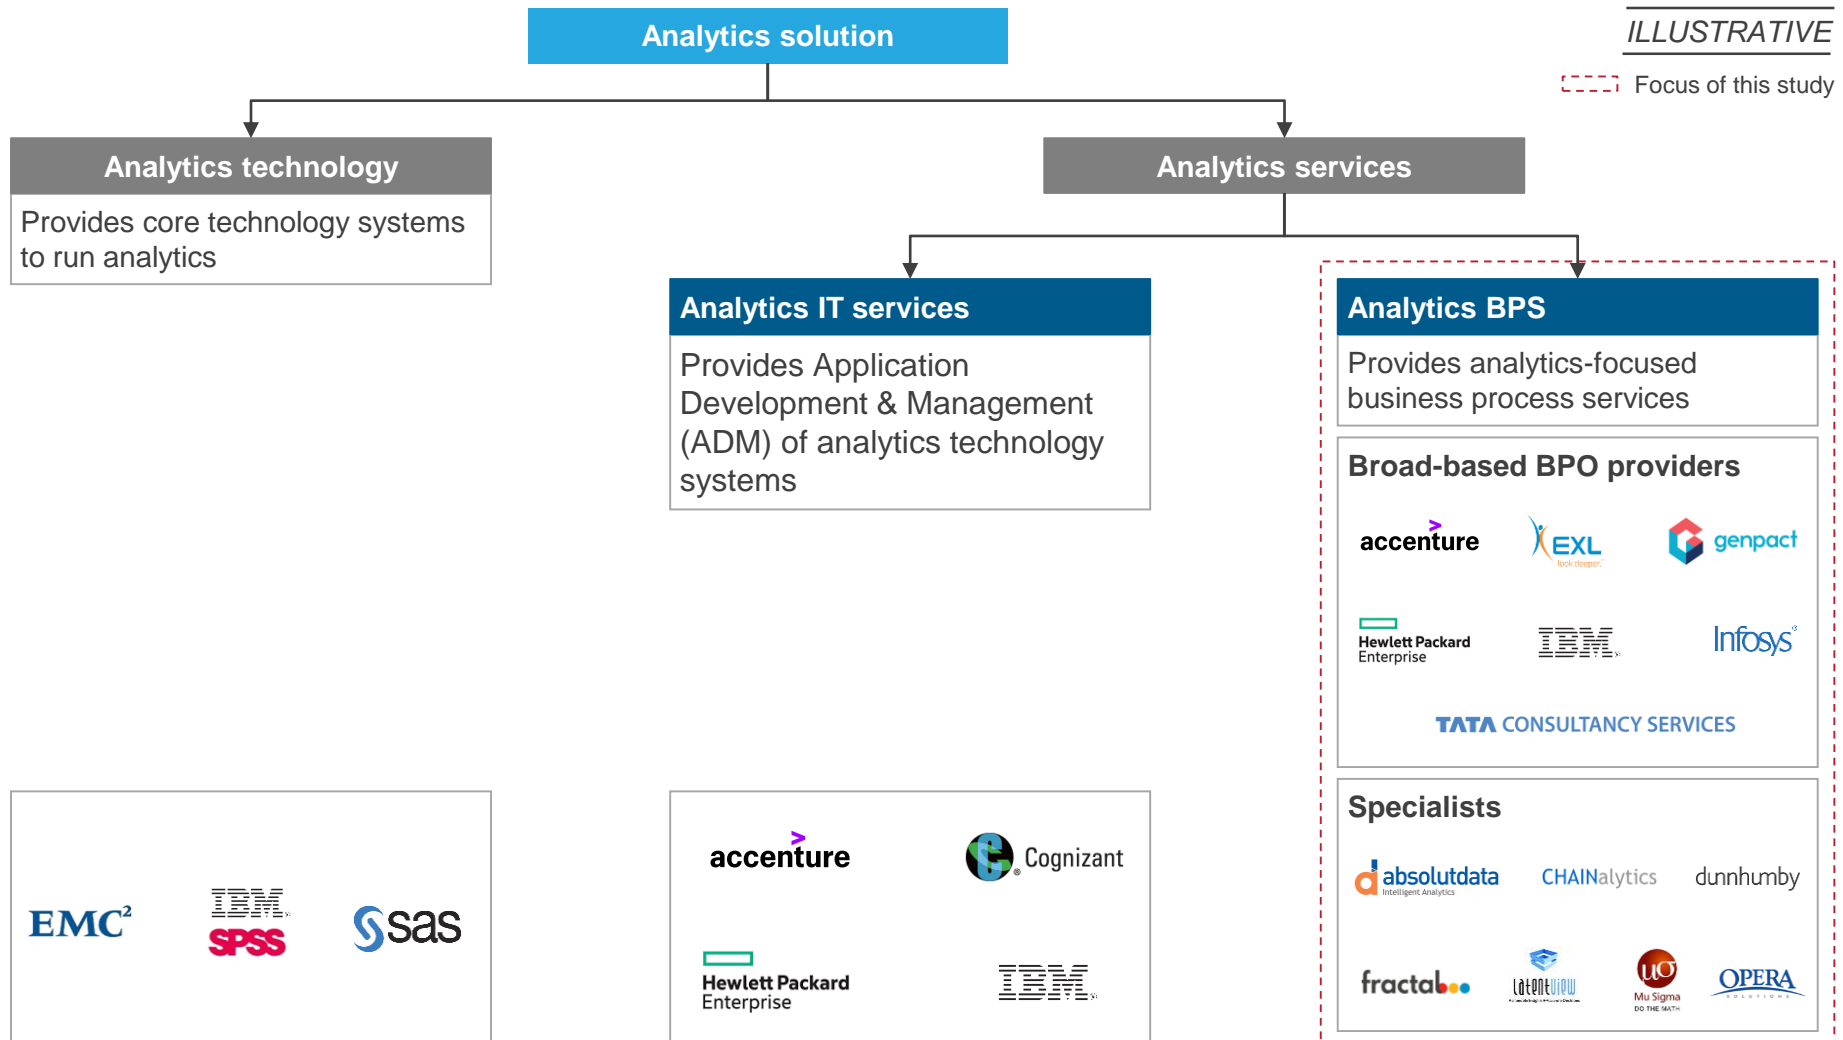

Note: Assessment for Absolutdata, Fractal Analytics, Latentview, and Mu Sigma excludes service provider inputs on this particular study, and is based on Everest Group's estimates which leverage Everest Group's proprietary Transaction Intelligence (TI) database, service providers' ongoing coverage & public disclosures, and interaction with buyers

Confidentiality: Everest Group takes its confidentiality pledge very seriously. Any contract-specific information collected, will only be presented back to the industry in an aggregated fashion

Scope of the study

This study focuses on the BPS aspect of an analytics solution

Overview and abbreviated summary of key messages

Analytics continues to grow and expand its scope with more clients deriving value from it and drawing useful strategic insights. This report uses Everest Group's proprietary PEAK Matrix to assess and rate service providers on various dimensions of their capabilities. It also includes market share analysis of service providers and Everest Group's remarks on service providers highlighting their key strengths and development areas.

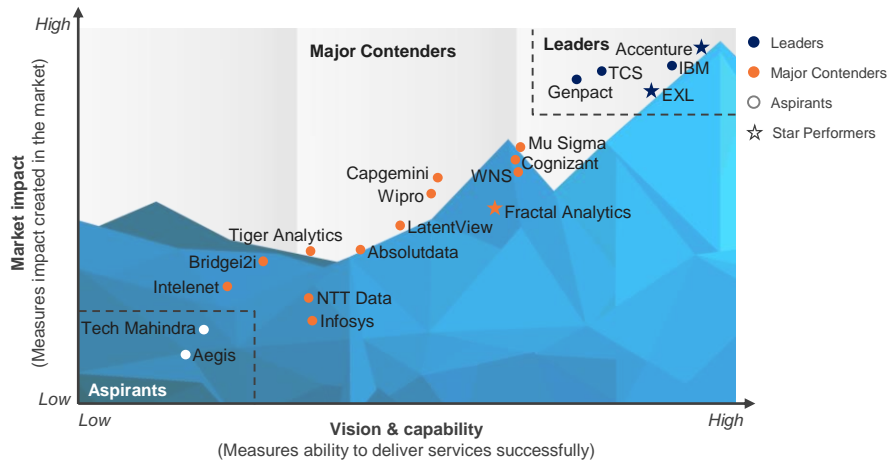

Some of the findings in this report, among others, are:

Everest Group PEAK Matrix for Analytics BPS

Strengths

- XXX provides analytics services to some of the largest organizations globally across areas such as big data analytics, marketing & spend analytics, and customer analytics
- It has invested heavily in its internal set of advanced analytics tools and solutions that also encompass broader themes such as Artificial Intelligence (AI)
- Its capability within analytics, that encompasses solutions from dashboarding and BI to advance analytics solutions, allows it to offer a more valuable proposition to its clients
- A diversified portfolio spanning multiple geographies and industries helps the firm to mitigate any potential concentration risk

Areas of improvement

- While it has sales offices in multiple locations, the bulk of its delivery is done through its centers in India. Expanding in onshore locations can provide the firm with a better connect with clients
- Partnerships with other firms can help XXX fill capability gaps in the areas and pockets that it operates in, and offer a better value proposition to its clients
- With a good growth momentum in the last few years, XXX can now look to ramp up the scale of its operations to emerge as a serious competitor to some of the larger firms in this area
- Partnering with broader BPO firms to offer its advanced analytics capabilities can not only help it grow its business, but can also open up the possibility of leveraging that experience to broaden its capabilities
