Overview and abbreviated summary of key messages

The report provides a comprehensive assessment of the service provider landscape for digital services in the L&P insurance sector and maps various providers on Everest Group's PEAK Matrix™. The report further examines the distinctive characteristics of different service provider clusters i.e., Leaders, Major Contenders, Aspirants, and recognizes the key implications of the rapidly changing landscape for L&P insurance buyers and service providers.

Some of the findings in this report, among others, are:

L&P insurance digital services PEAK Matrix characteristics

- Leaders continued to be the preferred service providers for digital transformation deals. Leaders have maintained an edge by offering a horizontal- and vertical-focused digital services/solutions stack, global IT services delivery capabilities, extensive domain experience, and bringing in an integrated operations and applications play to commit definite business outcomes on the insurers' digital services spend
- Major Contenders have exhibited a significant focus on forming strategic alliances with key technology vendors, meeting client needs through horizontal solutions, and setting up innovation hubs to demonstrate their digital services capabilities
- Aspirants, with their limited coverage, are trying to differentiate themselves in the market by offering flexible contracting options and are known for their client focus. They are investing to expand their partnership ecosystem, grow breadth of digital solutions, and enhance specific niche capabilities

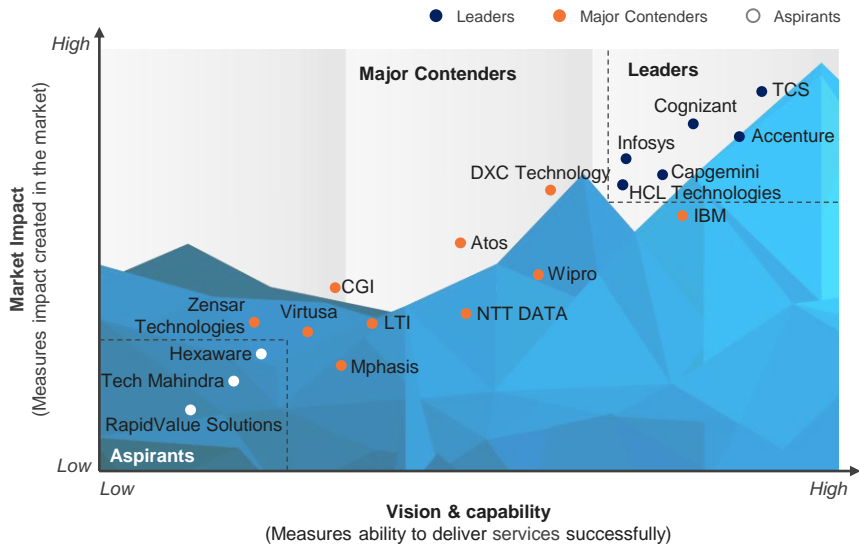

Implications for buyers and service providers

- L&P insurers should look to adopt a platform-based approach to drive business transformation. Modernization of the legacy environment to enable a superior front-end customer experience has become a key priority. L&P insurers need to demand deterministic savings leveraging as-a-service models, automation, and cognitive technologies to address their cost optimization needs
- Service providers need to digitize, simplify, and expedite insurance core processes by employing automation at scale. Ability to offer Business-Process-as-a-Service (BPaaS) constructs and enabling L&P insurers improve time-to-market by building an agile architecture and continuous delivery, using microservices and DevOps, is expected to become a key lever of differentiation

This study provides a deep dive into key aspects of service provider landscape for digital services in L&P insurance; below are three charts to illustrate the depth of the report

Strengths

- Service provider 1, has a robust delivery presence in Asia Pacific with multiple delivery centers in India, Australia, the Philippines, and China, enabling it to service client requirements efficiently
- It has a good number of multi-country as well as single-country clients across the world

Areas of improvement

- Service provider 1 should increase offerings of value-added services such as employer branding, talent communities and workforce planning
- It should try to expand into larger multi-country deals and also scout for engagements in other Asia Pacific markets to strengthen its presence in the region
